ENGLAND AND ITALY IN AFRICA

England in her attempt to gain a permanent foothold in the valley of the Upper Nile, and Italy by her effort to make herself a seat by the Red Sea, are the two foreign powers seeking to fasten themselves upon northeast Africa. The cost of the effort by England, in life and treasure, to reconquer the Soudan region has been enormous. She has not been able to save herself from severe punishment by the savage tribes of the Bayonda desert, who have snatched from her a large part of the small gain she made. These desert tribes of the Soudan are terrible in battle, giving no quarter and being more rapid in movement than is possible to British or Egyptian regular troops. In fact, the method and daring of the half naked Soudanese soldiery have literally locked civilization out of all the country south of Wady Halfa. But abandonment of Egypt is not thought of by the English. They cannot afford to yield their supremacy in that quarter of the world and risk the involvement of the Suez canal. England will not, therefore, evacuate Egypt, as has been rumored from time to time. She may make a pretense, but will not loosen her hold. An evidence of this is found in the fact that at this time engineers are now putting the finishing engineers are now putting the finishing touches to heavy batteries at the entrance to the harbor of Alexandria, which place is now so strongly fortified that the heaviest armored men-of-war could not with the measurement of the police force, and the Chief, therefore, had notice in April. 1887, that his salary for the year might not be paid in full; and especially was this so when the Chief and the twelve men provided for by the Trustees permitted the extra men to draw a fixed salary with themselves all certainly knowing that the heaviest armored men-of-war could not enter. There is no doubt that Italy originally occupied Massowah at the instigation of England in order to divert attention from the latter's real schemes. The terrible battles at Dogali and Saati, in which the Italians were crushed by the overwhelming numbers of the Abyssinians, served to fire the Italian blood, and 75,000 volunteer troops were thrown into the country, and Massowah is to-day simply impregnable. King John, of Abyssinian, not long since proposed terms of peace to Italy, which were referred to the Government at Rome. While Italy and the Abyssinian tribes contest England expects to be Italy, which were retered to the Government at Rome. While Italy and the Abysinian tribes contest England expects to be able to seize a favorable opportunity to regain the Sondan. In the meantime Italy is doing battle for more than she originally had in contemplation, and her warfare will now be a struggle to open up regions of the dark continent heretofore in accessible to the Europeans. Her terrible punishment at Dogali and Saati has made it a point of national honor to conquer to Italian supremacy a country as large as her own territory. It remains to be seen how she will succeed.

The worse than silly girl, Fellows, who married the vulgar, lazy, drunken Indian Chaska, has accepted an engagement to exhibit herself and her bronzed husband under the management of a traveling showman. While this is the manifestation of a thrifty spirit, since it will put much money into Mrs. Chaska's purse, it makes decent people abhor the woman who can thus traffic upon what she has all this while contended was a pure affection. The conclusion is now justified that she married Chaska simply and solely to make commerce of the notoriety of her unnatural alliance. The fact that while as yet married but a few weeks to the creature of her conclusion is now justified that she married chask as simply and solely to make commerce of the notoriety of her unnatural alliance. The fact that while as yet married but a few weeks to the creature of her conclusion is now justified that she married chase and whom she declareds o emphatically to be the chief object of her affections, she consents to be set up on the trestle-boards of a show as the woman who sold herself to an Indian for notoriety and to pose with living skeletons, fat women, dwarfs, snake charmers and knife swallow ers, is ample proof that she is without modesty, affection or the common sensibilities of ordinary decency.

Insane Patients.

There has been an unusually large number of insane persons at the County Jail within the past few days.

Mary T. Owen, the young woman from Red Bluff, who has been stopping at the Orleans and who told such a curious story at the station-house on Friday last, was ex amined by Judge Armstrong and Drs. Brune and Simmons, and pronounced in-sane. She was ordered committed to the asylum at Stockton, and would have been taken down yesterday but a telegram was received from her mother stating that she was on her way to see her daughter and requesting the Sheriff to await her arrival. Annie Flannigan was examined and pronounced insane by Judge Armstrong and Drs. Clow and Snyder, and will be taken to Stockton to-day.

An old lady named Louisa Heztner was: taken to the asylum yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Bennett. Her husband died lately and it is thought his death was the cause of her insanity.

THE EX-CHIEF'S SALARY, An Opinion of the City Attorney-The City not Legally Liable.

City Attorney W.S. Church yesterday filed with the City Trustees the following opinion, which is self-explanatory:

with the City Trustees the following opinion, which is self-explanatory:

To the Board of Trustees of the City of Sacramento, State of California, Gentlemen: In reply to your request for an opinion as to the status of the claims of the Chief of Police, a d police force, for salary due them for the last three months of the fiscal year ending March 31, 1888, I would say that it is a vexatious and complicated question, and a proper one for the Courts. I understand the fects of the case to be as follows: The Chief was elected by the people, and the police force were appointed by the Police Commissioners. Under the Act of March 6, 1872, the police force consists of a Captain of Police, and such a number of policemen, not to exceed fifteen, as the Police Commissioners may deem necessary for the protection and good government of the city. That Act also fixes the monthly salaries of the Chief and police force as follows: Chief of Police, $150; Captain of Police, $125; policemen, $100; to be paid monthly from the City Trustees made their estimate for the ensuing fiscal year, commencing April 1, 1887, and providing only for a Chief of Police, Captain of Police, and eleven policemen. Subsequently, in April, 1887, the Police Commissioners increased the police force to fifteen men and a Captain, the number allowed by law. On the question of increase before the Police Commissioners, the President of the Board of Trustees voted "no." There was, therefore, during the fiscal year commencing April 1, 1887, and ending March 31, 1888, seventeen men to pay out of an appropriation made for thirteen men only. The salaries of the Chief of Police and police force were paid until the Police Department fund was exhausted in January, 1888, with the exception of about $800, and which was left as a balance on hand in the Police Gommissioners appointed the extra men, at least under color of authority of law, they did so with a knowledge that their salary was not provided for; and it will be observed that the Trustees made no express contract under the estimates made by the Tru tees. The Chief was one of those men, undoubtedly, because his status was fixed and known at all times; when the February estimate was made; when the Police Commissioners appointed the extra force; and when the first warrants were drawn in May, 1887. But who were the other twelve men? That must be determined by the Courts as a question of fact. The Chief and police force are entitled to the $800 balance left in the treasury on March 31, 1888. An invidious distinction can hardly be made between the Chief and the police, with respect to their right as to this $800, on the ground that the Chief was elected to office, while the policemen were appointed. The policemen, as well as the Chief, had a fixed salary, and are as much entitled to their share of the $800 as the Chief is. The estimates were made before the Chief and police force entered upon the performance of their duties.

nento. Respectfully yours, W. S. Church, City Attorney.

No interest will be charged until $175 has been paid, when 5 per cent. per annum will be added. Each purchaser to receive a certificate of purchase. It is a well-known fact that people like to get value received with in terest. In this association of 350 you get high interest. If you don't succeed in getting a house on your lot (35 chances in your favor, or one chance in ten) you will have a piece of ground worth more than the price paid. No offer of the kind has ever been made that will give the value to be had in this one. The property has merits that cannot be equaled. It is no scheme on paper, but a plain business proposition. The tract of land from which we offer you lots is beautifully situated at the southeastern boundary of Sacramento: is high ground, admitting of excellent drainage; commands a fine view of the country about Sacramento. The soil is highly productive and easily cultivated. The company have planted large numbers of trees, such as the palm, magnolfa, cypress, pine and orange. An immense amount of money has been spent in grading and laying out avenues, constructing culverts for drainage. The work still goes on and will continue until Oak Park is the garden spot of our State. ..$1,400 of our State.

The Central Street Railway Company are laying their track, and by July 1st Oak Park will be connected with the Southern Pacific Passenger Depot. Elegant cars propelled by electricity will be frequently run over the road, giving residents of the Park the same advantage as residents of the city.

The fact that Sacramento City is fast filling up and her lots being so rapidly built upon made it necessary to place an addition that would be of real worth to seekers of homes, and in this land all that is needed can be found. To own a lot in Oak Park Addition to Sacramento is to own property in the second commercial city of California. Surrounded by the richest agricultural and horsicultural portion of the earth. Right in the center of the greatest fruit-shipping country in the world. Its climate all that could be desired by the most exacting.

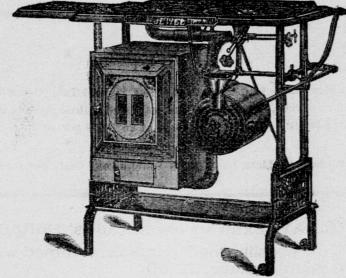

Sacramento is daily increasing in population and inside of ten years the thirty thousand people will have swelled to seventy thousand. Think of these brief truths and prepare to spend May Day in getting a Certificate of Furchase in this Association of £9—May First.

OVER 500 BUCK'S BRILLIANT NON-EXPLOSIVE VAPOR STOVES HAVE been received by us in the past month, and more to come. Our Buck's Brilliant Vapor Stoves have established such a reputation for excellence of cooking and economy that every one is buying them. They are so simple in construction and so easily managed that a child can do the cooking on one of them.

THE BUCK'S BRILLIANT IS POSITIVELY NON-EXPLOSIVE, FROM the fact that the standard which carries the vapor from the main pipe to the burner is packed with gravel and asbestos. This is not all. We will warrant BUCK'S BRILLIANT VAPOR STOVE to throw out no heat, no smell, and, what is most important of all, it will do your cooking for less than one-half of either wood, coal or coke. We are sole agents for the Pacific Coast for these wonderful stoves.

the Police Court yesterday morning on a charge of misdemeanor, in having built a pense reduces the distance by one-half. Already a town site has been selected and fence along what they claim as the north line of lots one, two three and four in the the locations for a church, school and hotel block between R and S, Sixth and Seventh | been determined on, and streets. The complaining witness was Henry A. Caulfield, who owns the block lying west of the one above mentioned. So far as the criminal charge is concerned the evidence did not show any intent to commit a crime, but some very nice ques-tions of law were raised which the Court concluded to consider farther before rendering his decision. The case was therefore continued until to-morrow morning.

Mr. Caulfield testified that he was now living in a house at the corner of U and Sixth streets, but that he had lived upon what has been known as Caulfield's ranch, which included the property in question, for the past thirty-five years. He had owned the blocks between R and S streets, from Fourth to Seventh streets, and when the R-street levee was built there was not enough room left on the south side of R street for teams to pass. People living on that side could not cross the levee, and had to go up to Seventh street or down to Fourth. His neighbors came to him and asked him if he would not give enough land to make an avenue along the south side of the R-street levee that would be convenient for travel. He told them that he would, and they agreed to help build the road. The avenue was built from Fourth to Seventh street, the neighfrom Fourth to Seventh street, the neighbors assisting in the work and the city furnishing the chain-gang to work on it. Josiah Johnson was then a Trustee. When the avenue was built witness put a fence along it, which had remained there ever along it, which had remained there ever that at times it had been thrive best are the Bartlett and Jargonelle. since, except that at times it had been thrive best are the Bartlett and Jargonelle washed away by floods and had to be re-built. This was thirty years ago, and this besides walnuts, figs and almonds. The ferring the property, nothing was set forth in the deeds reserving any number of feet acre tract is so arranged that it fronts some having already given it to the public many The testimony of the three defendants was that they had purchased the lots from B. R. Crocker, who had his title from John Beck. Mr. Beck had purchased them from Philip Herzog, who acquired title through judgment in the Superior Court. Their deeds called for lots 160 feet deep and they had measured through from S street and found that their line would come up to the levee, therefore they had moved the fence out to what they considered was the true line. They knew nothing about the dediof a strip off the north end of the lots to the public use, and no such reservation was made in their deeds. They had been told by Mr. Crocker and Mr. Beck

They said that they did not want any more than what was right, but they had bought lots 160 feet deep, and the only way they could get that number of feet was to run up to the levee, as the levee was built along the south side of R street. They were engaged in improving the block, and intended to leave an alley through the center of the block, conforming to the other alleys running east and let through the alley.

Mr. Caulfield claimed, in reply to this, that the alley and S street were both under water, and there was no outlet on high that they were entitled to the full lots.

He did not think there was room enough for a road between the south edge of the was not laid down on the city map.

The case involves the very nice question as to whether Mr. Caulfield made a legal dedication of the land to a public use, and whether the property has been so used by the public as to create a prescriptive right.

ORANGEVALE.

A SACRAMENTO FRUIT COLONY ENTERPRISE.

Excursion to the New Colony and Town-Site Which Overlooks the American River Valley.

Some eight or nine months ago a syndi cate of Sacramento citizens acquired by purchase a tract of 3,200 acres of land, tion Company were guided in their selection of a site by the frugiferous capabilities An Important Question as to Boundary feet deep, admirably adapted for the propagation of fruit trees. THE WORK OF BEAUTIFYING COMMENCED. The projected town is situated on a nataral bluff, overlooking the American river, at an elevation from the latter's bed of a hundred and fifty feet. If the town site is attractive, hardly less so is Otangevale avenue, as the approach to this model colony is called, which skirts the bank of the American river as far as Lincoln cut, and is romantic enough for anything. It is a well-graded road, with the of an avenue or park-walk. In its con-struction it has been found necessary to erect no less than three bridges, which are open for traffic already. J. W. Anderson, a gentleman of large experience in the fruit-raising business, is the pioneer Superintendent of the colony and the Resident Manager. At present he has a force of forty men working for him grading roads, planting trees and generally preparing the place for settlement and occupation. The whole of the land which the company has acquired has been parcelled out into tenacre blocks, which are to be sold on favor-able terms to those who are willing to beable terms to those who are willing to be-come purchasers. Experiments in the way come purchasers. Experiments in the way of planting have already been commenced, their business interests. These outlying

The fence was rebuilt the last time just after the flood of 1878. The winess after the flood of 1878. The winess after the graphs had been dealy after the graphs had been dealy ago to the varieties known as the Tokay, Muscat, Emperor and Hamburg, though other though of the track to take equally kindly to it. Every colonist will be permitted to plant his tract to what class of fruit he pleases, but an allotment of six acres to claimed that the avenue had been dedicated to a public use for thirty years, though he admitted that subsequently, in transoff the north side of the lots. He had given a quit-claim deed to the lots, but did not sell the roadway, as he did not own it, nifying the different varieties of fruit for which the colony EXPECTS TO BECOME FAMOUS.

The tracts are all staked out, and numhaving to have recourse to maps or plans. A well of soft water is found on every 220 acres, ample for family purposes and for watering cattle and stock. Educational facilities have not been forgotten; there a good school on the colony taught by Mrs. Sullivan, and as the tracts get taken up, a school-house will be erected in the town boundaries, for which a site has already been reserved. For the next year or two the colony will not be in need of irrigation, for as is well known, young trees and shoots are not benefited by an excess of moisture. Rather copious watering makes them degenerate into wood and retard growth of a really healthy nature. But irrigation will have to be resorted to soone or later, and having this in view, the company is figuring on laying piping to an elevated feeder of the American river near Auburn, an enterprise which will call for the expenditure of something like $75,000 This expense, however, will be cheerfully ing to the other alleys running east and west, and Mr. Caulfield would have an outlet through the alley.

WAIT ON THEIR EFFORTS. At present the nearest depot to Orange vale is Folsom, but as the colony gets set tled up both a depot and Postoffice will be called into life. Provision for transient visitors and possible investors is to be furnished by a large and commodious hotel which the company is going to erect very shortly. Game of all sorts abound, espe levee and the south line of R street. The road referred to by Caulfield as an avenue at this early stage of its existence, may find both entertainment and sport. Among the earliest advantages to accrue to Folsom own of a cannery, which will be operated by the volume of the American river. Mr of the Orangevale Colonization Company and the other officers are as follows: V. S McClatchy, Vice-President; Robt. T. Dev-lin, Secretary; Directors—Thos. B. Hall, V. S. McClatchy, Geo. M. Mott, P. C. Drescher and H. Weinstock. AN ORANGEVALE EXCURSION. With that good judgment which the bus ness men of Sacramento usually display in their enterprises, the Directors of the Orangevale Colony conceived the happy idea of bringing their property to the notice of the public by projecting an excursion thither which should be disassociated from all features of a secondariance by from all features of a speculative character An excursion was arranged on a most com rehensive scale, to include a trip by rai o Folsom and a drive to Orangevale by carriage. The idea was to give the publi an opportunity to inspect the ten-acre and the beautiful town site without being importuned, or even asked, to

The excursion left the city yesterday morning, and consisted of four well-packed coaches of people, including many of the delegation of ladies. The First Artillery band accompanied the excursion and enlivened the day with inspiriting music Indeed, the event partook more of

The country was in its most beautiful and attractive garb and presented a scenic panorama of real grandeur. WHAT WAS DONE AND SEEN. Brief addresses were made by Messrs. T. B. Hall and R. T. Devlin, giving a history of the Orangevale enterprise from its inception, and explaining what the Association had done and outlining its future

After partaking of a well-laid and bountiful lunch, the wagons were again brought into requisition, and nearly all whom small holdings have an attraction. Expressions of admiration regarding the character of the soil and the general surroundings were heard on every hand. The canal coursing through the center of the ten-acre tracts was running full of water from the Bear river, insuring great benefits to the land on either side, and confirming all that the Association has promised in regard to its facilities for irrigation.

A VISIT TO THE PRISON. On the invitation of Warden Aull, of the Folsom prison, the excursionists left the a little before 4 o'clock and returned to Folsom, whence they were taken by train to the prison, where an hour was gentlemen went inside the prison and viewed the cells, officers' quarters, etc., while the band struck up a lively air to cheer the hearts of the poor unfortunates within the walls

About 5 o'clock the train started on its return to the city, the excursionists arriving home about 6 o'clock, after having spent a most delightful day among the groves where the future town of Orangevale shall overlook the charming panoroma of the American river valley. SACRAMENTO'S CHARMING SURROUNDINGS.

There is one especially great advantage to Sacramentans in the opening up and development of these suburban tracts, and ommunities will all have the advantages of schools and churches in the course of time, and the city merchant or professional man can have his home and family in the country, and be within a few minutes' or an hour's drive of his place of business. Railroads now radiate from Sacramento to all points of the compass, and the country dweller has no trouble in reaching the city at almost any hour of the day. The time will undoubtedly come—and within a very few years at that—when our city business men will have their suburban homes along the railroad between here and Folsom or Placerville, and along the Central Pacific Railroad up into the Placer foothills. No part of California exceeds these localities in picturesqueness of scenery and fer-tility of soil. They possess every attractinty of soil. They possess every attraction for those who prefer country to city life, and have already many of the solid advantages so generally desired. Sacramento is indeed favored by her surroundings, and cannot help becoming a great center of business and population. It behoves her people of means to foster and encourage all such enterprises as that of the Orangevale Association, and similar | for grand larceny. ones now being carried out nearer to the The prizes for the Red Men's picnic, nucity. (See Ordinance No. 174.) This is a duty or obligation imposed by the Code and could not be waived by Ordinance No. 202, Neither could this obligation imposed by the general law be released by the City Trustees by the passage of Ordinance 202. Clunie Opera House. Whatever Hoyt's "Parlor Match" means, what its plot or the details of the story of the play, probably none in the large audience last night knew when the from the latter's proximity to the fruit curtain went down finally. But the best colony will be the establishment in that evidence of the pleasure experienced by the auditors is found in the fact that they laughed immoderately from beginning to B. Hall, of Sacramento, is the President the end, with respites only when the extended the Orangevale Colonization Company, cellent male quartet and the quintet of mixed voices sang and the instrumentalists played. Evans and Hoey are the leaders, but the thirteen other people are all capable and there is no heavy weight whatever in the combination. The play is worse than absurd and pointless as to plot; but it presents more of variety and specialty acting, and amusing stage business and di-alogue than any of Hoyt's pieces. The applause last night was almost constant, and the encores of specialties outran all reason, so heartily did the people enjoy the ludicrous situations of the extravaganza, the witty lines of the text and the cleverness of the troupe. It is fair to credit it as being the best company that has given any of Hoyt's unfathomable absurdities here. A final performance to-night. Metropolitan Theater. Gus Williams, the well-known and justly popular comedian and specialist in German dialect and character acting, will appear in the comedy-drama by Charles Wallace, enleading merchants and capitalists of the city, a few from San Francisco, and a large delegation of ladies. The First Artillery Williams has twice played here within five or six years, on both occasions winning popular favor. The Eastern press uni-formly speak of the new play as admirably adapted to Williams' quality, and as a comedy of merit, cleanly and of good puroose. The company supporting Williams is represented as a strong one, and much etter balanced than is customary in the 'support' of a star comedian, who as a rule, brooks no excellence in his company that is at all likely to dim his own light In this case the assurance is given that the ompany is an exception.

INGHAM&HEER

A Splendid Shoe.

People will not leave tried and favorite brands of SHOES for new ones unless there are strong reasons for so doing.

Hence a new make of SHOES that at once springs into favor, crowding out old brands, MUST OF NECESSITY possess strong points of superiority.

Such is the history of the B. & H. $4 SHUE. Although a new production, it has already had a large sale, and is probably just what its makers intended it to be--the BEST Shoe of its kind in the market. It comes in all sizes and several styles.
